The European Jazz Academy was founded by Peter Herbolzheimer in 2007. It includes selection of young and older jazz musicians and singers from Europe.

It is this synergy of young and old, professional and non-professional members sharing a love and devotion to big band jazz that sets the Academy apart. "My aim is to merge the dedication of the young with the experience of the older musicians," said Herbolzheimer in an interview on the occasion of the first joint workshop.

Herbolzheimer viewed this integration of all music enthusiasts and the resulting concentration on the music as „a paramount teaching concept" and his "personal, heartfelt desire."

The Academy is dedicated to keeping alive the extensive repertoire of compositions and arrangements by Peter Herbolzheimer. But the repertoire also includes arrangements contributed by participants.

In order to support the younger participants, the older musicians pay a higher financial contribution to the cost of workshop. Peter Herbolzheimer saw this as an important way to express solidarity among musicians.

The fee for participation in the workshop is for young musicians/singers EUR 250,- for older musicians/singers EUR 750,-

This includes meals and lodging at the guest house as well as a contribution to the cost of the workshop as such.
